RACE TRACK, SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 1[illegible].--The [illegible] of the weather this morning [illegible] the interest in the race and enticed [illegible] course, who, under less favorable circumstances would have studiously avoided this mild form of dissipation. As soon as the light of day [illegible] the eastern horizon the tide of travel set toward the Park and the roads centering at this point were crowded with adventurous fellows of a speculative turn of mind, including gamblers, venders of various indigestible refreshments and a varied assortment of vagabonds, all bent on securing a bounty [illegible] about the country outlying the track. The economists who, through necessity or choice, patronized the pedestrian line, also made an early start and with jacket in hand trudged [illegible] and were in appearance happy. The horsemen manifested a preference for the old county road which afforded them an opportunity to lift to the industrial school on the cars while the teams came over the Mission and Ocean Beach roads, the Cliff House road or the fine drive through the Golden Gate Park. At 10 o'clock the roads presented a cheering scene. There were wagons, buggies, coupes, trays, [illegible] barouches, dump carts, in fact every vehicle of locomotion adaptable to the purpose of the season, occupied by people of every class and condition, pedestrians in groups and alone, and as merry a crowd as ever passed out of the city. The stylish equipages largely occupied by the fair but fast representatives of society rolled along with the customary regard for the rights of pedestrians and occasionally received salutations strikingly expressive, but in the main the behavior of the crowd was confined to genteel hilarity. The day was peculiar [illegible] California and a type of the delightful autumn season. A mellow haze enveloped the surrounding hills, while a gentle breeze came in over the glittering surf line of the sea, which nearly faced the western extremity of the track. The atmosphere was of refreshing temperature. To the Eastern visitor the scene must have been happy and inspiring. By 12 o'clock the grand rush had fairly set in, and a dense column of horse, foot and carriage resembling the march of a great army, streamed steadily over the hill and down the avenue leading to the park. Every available means of conveyance appeared and was pressed into service, from the imposing four-horse drag to the rickety cart of the vegetable peddler. The usual [illegible] trains of the San Jose railroad and walked to the course. Within the Park the scene was fairly suggestive of the day on the Derby Downs. An hundred aristocratic establishments crowded together occupied by gay votaries of fashion who discussed the probabilities of the approaching race with animation and the contents of their hampers with equal earnestness. The day and scene were [illegible] negative of hilarity. The sports as well as the indispensable card sharp and his confreres were present in force and had their tables and [illegible] genteel swindling arranged on every side where the crowd did most predominate, both within and without the Park. Hundreds [illegible] the tedium of the hours before the commencement of the race by tampering with the [illegible] fellows and got their fingers burned as usual. The hackmen are charging $10 a load from the city, customers finding their own conveyance back. A great speculator has offered the managers $1[illegible] for the receipts of the gate and [illegible] of receipts at the stands and extras. The offer was refused. The horses are in good trim. True Blue, Thad Stevens and the other horses named for the contest were already [illegible] exercised this morning and appear to be in excellent condition. The friends and supporters of True Blue casually remarked from time to time in appropriate circumstances that the horse was a trifle stiff about the knees and lacked the desired amount of luster in his eye--a statement that was invariably received with significant winks and nods by the keen adepts in the matters pertaining to the turf. The true state of affairs was enshrouded with a suspicious mystery that the race alone could explain to the uninitiated. The gossip of the stables failed to contain any point of interest other than the report that the owner of True Blue depended upon distancing Thad Stevens in the first heat, and failing in this he had serious doubts of winning the contest. The old sorrel continued in high favor. The grounds now present a dazzling scene of animation. The proportions of the crowd increase with numberless rapidity and at the present time there are at least six thousand people on the course. The main road leading to the course is hidden for a mile with a cloud of dust, and a continuous procession of buggies pours steadily down the hill to the last. The pool selling was commenced at 12 M. and [illegible] briskly at large figures in the two hours that intervened before the horses were called. A heavy sum was deposited in the bank [illegible] somewhere between $20,000 to $30,000. Thad Stevens is now the favorite by [illegible] crossed odds. A report industriously circulated that True Blue had exhibited symptoms of stiffness this forenoon may have had some influence, but he could not [illegible] in the California favor [illegible] is very strong. The ratio in pools between Stevens and Blue is [illegible] The following shows the average of pools one hour before the calling of the horses:--Stevens 200, True Blue [illegible], Daniels 30, Field 30. PACIFIC COAST NEWS.

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

CALIFORNIA.

From San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 1[illegible].--The weather for the race this afternoon is excellent. Hundreds of people have already left the city for the track. Thad Stevens remains the favorite in the pools and amongst betters on the outside. There is great excitement over the races and the city this afternoon will be almost deserted. Little else is talked about or thought of. All the horses to go are reported this morning to be in excellent condition.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 1[illegible].--Chas. Dodge, a clerk in the employ of Bancroft & Co., and Joe Faraday, a clerk with Wallace Everson, went to the California Theater [illegible] night, stayed over the [illegible] On their return Dodge complained of sickness. He was taken home and doctors were called who said they supposed he had been poisoned. Faraday told them that the two had taken beer together. He remained with Dodge till this morning, and then went home laboring under great depression. When he reached home he wrote three letters and was asked by his brother what was the matter. He told him that he wanted to be called at five. He then blew out the light, went to bed and pulled the clothes over his head, then fired a pistol. His brother Richard called the landlady and found that he had shot himself through the head with a derringer and died in an hour. Word was received at this time that Dodge was also dead. Faraday was aged 20 and gave the reason in a letter that he could not live with the stain on his character that the death of Dodge would leave. Dodge was 1[illegible] years old. The post mortem examination showed that death resulted from the rupture of a blood vessel in the brain.

Thad. Stevens took the last heat and won the race. There was the wildest excitement. The crowd was a perfect jam and crush. Coming home a large number of vehicles were wrecked on the way, but so far as known no lives were lost or limbs broken. The time given for the last heat of the race was erroneous. True time [illegible]

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 16.--The lameness of True Blue is more apparent to-day than when he was led off the track last night. The owner says he can never run again. In the rush and row [illegible] the [illegible] last night coming from the great race about twenty carriages, buggies and express wagons were wrecked. Several ladies [illegible] It is surprising no one was killed, for it was dark and the grade in many places is very steep and narrow and most of the drivers were excited and careless.

The trial of Harris, mate of the Sea [illegible], will be resumed to-morrow. There was no session of the court yesterday.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 16.--James Ryan was stabbed and very dangerously wounded this morning by a man named Brady on Broadway street. Brady was put out of a saloon by Ryan and after a while returning, attacked him with a club. Ryan took it away from him and went out of the saloon, when Brady followed and stabbed him in the back and abdomen. Brady was arrested.

About 800 Chinamen will sail for their native land to-morrow.

Interior California.

STOCKTON, Cal., Nov. 15.--A fire broke out about two o'clock this afternoon in the main building of the Stockton chickory factory building. The machinery and a large quantity of chickory was destroyed. The probable loss will be $2,000; insurance $2,000. Cause, defective flue.

There is much enthusiasm in this city over old Thad's last victory and a large amount of money changed hands on the result.

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 15.--The Pacific Mail steamer Montana from Panama arrived at [illegible] A. M. and sailed at 8 A. M. for San Francisco. She has [illegible] cabin [illegible] steerage passengers and [illegible] tons of freight for San Francisco. She left Panama November 1st and had a pleasant passage.

Rain fell here between 10 A. M. and 2 P. M. yesterday.

Bark Gen. Cobb, Capt. Delaney, arrived last night with lumber from Puget Sound.

Reliable parties from the [illegible] placer mines arrived to-night [illegible] complete that. There are now 150 men there, making from $1 50 to $5 per day.

PLEASANTON, Nov. 16.--Our usually quiet town was excited this afternoon by the announcement of a prize fight to take place near town. The spectators formed a ring, but the principals were not in fighting trim, and consequently a rough and tumble fight was the result.

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 16.--J. D. Whitney, State Geologist, has just completed his final report to the Governor, and gives an account of work done on a number of maps. He is engaged on ornithological and other scientific books now in course of publication, and states that inasmuch as the Legislature has been unwilling to appropriate a sufficient amount of money to enable him to carry on the work as fast as desirable, he has concluded to sever his connection with that department of the State and will under no circumstances serve longer than July 1, 1875. He asks for the early appropriation of $100,000 to enable him to complete the work by the above named date.

MERCED, Nov. 16.--Wm. McClung, convicted of an assault to commit murder and to be sentenced to-morrow, made an attempt to break jail to-night. His wife was admitted to his cell, and in her under clothing she brought him a hatchet and an [illegible]. McClung broke the [illegible] all around the jail lock and was kicking against the door when Sheriff Brown appeared and stopped the game. McClung exclaimed, "Brown, you are a fine fellow." The several county clerks in the State are tussling with the Equalization assessment rolls.

The Ashland sports have swapped coin on scrub horse races every Saturday for the last ten weeks.

A small amount of wheat has been shipped from Grand Ronde to Umatilla for the Portland market.

A Teachers Institute is to be held in Eugene City on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, November 24th, 25th and 26th.

There were, it is claimed, in Baker county 1,200 voters, while at the election last month only 400 of them went to the polls.

Harvey B. Maxwell, has discovered a quartz ledge near Ashland, Oregon, which he claims assays $[illegible] to the ton. He is jubilant.

The Episcopal Society at Baker City have commenced the work of getting the material for their new church edifice upon the ground.

The loss to Dr. Johnson, occasioned by the burning of his drug store at McMinnville last Monday, is estimated at $1,500 to $3,000. There was no insurance.

A Republican City Convention will be held in Salem on the 24th inst., to nominate candidates for the city offices to be filled at the election in December.

Mr. T. M. Waite, Secretary of the Oregon State Agricultural Society, states that the Board of Managers of the Society meet on Tuesday, Nov. 25th, instead of the 18th.

The Fire Department of Corvallis is now regularly organized and the city authorities will formally deliver the fire apparatus on Thursday of the present week.

The amount of taxes to be levied by the County Court of Lane county this week, is as follows: State, $17,800; poll (which also goes to the State) $1,313; county, $15,700; school, $9,42[illegible]. Total, $44,277.

The water is becoming very scarce in most of the placer mines in Baker county, and some who have been mining pretty extensively, are gradually narrowing down and it will not be long before they will suspend operations altogether until next season.

The Santiam Academy is in a most flourishing condition. There were in the school during the year as many as 150 pupils and the prospects for the winter term, which will open on the first of December, are very flattering.

F. Sodine, of Union, some two or three weeks since, accidentally run a sliver up through the instep of one of his feet, and within the last few days his leg presents a very disagreeable appearance and it is feared will have to be amputated.

Last week while boring a well on Mr. Miller's place on Soap Creek, at the depth of forty feet the borers struck a strata of muck and drift wood, and fifty feet from the surface they struck a log three feet in thickness, through which the augur passed.

The Baker City Herald says: "Freight train wagons drawn by from six to a dozen span of mules, arrive now-a-days almost every day--Sundays included. They are loaded with goods and groceries for the merchants of this and other points of this region."

In consequence of the utter impossibility of attending to the necessary business at one meeting a month, Lebanon Grange have found it necessary to change their By Laws so that they can hold semi-monthly meetings. The membership of this Grange is increasing at an unprecedented ratio.

The Independent says: "At a school meeting which came off last Monday evening at Forest Grove, the proposition of keeping up a free school for a year was voted down, because of the new series of school books which the State Board of Education has adopted for the use of the public schools in this State."

Mr. T. J. Dunten brought to Eugene on Saturday the 8th inst. some specimens of gold bearing quartz which are said to be very rich. Mr. D. found the ledge from which the quartz was obtained while out hunting on Camp creek in Lane county, and is quite confident that he has "struck a good thing."

A Mrs. Bland, of Douglas county, sat at the foot of a tree in the dark woods and watched a bear while her husband went six miles for ammunition to shoot it with. We should say the woman was brave, but if the husband had become a widower what would he have thought of his own courage in setting his wife to watch a bear.

The Albany Register of last Saturday says: "On Thursday Mr. Wm. Poe, of Halsey precinct, was arrested on a warrant issued by J. S. Grimes, J. P., charged with the crime of incest. He was brought before [illegible] County Judge, yesterday, when he waived an examination and was committed to answer, and in default of bail ($[illegible]000) was incarcerated in the county jail."

Work has been commenced on the Badger Silver Lode, the assays of the ore made so far leading the owners of the mine to believe it is a very valuable piece of property. A shaft is now to be sunk down on the ledge one hundred and fifty feet, and this will enable those interested to form a correct idea of its value. The ledge is located ten miles from Roseburg and is very promising of rich results so far as prospected.

The Vespertine says: "Jacob H[illegible]over of Washington county met with a serious and painful accident lately. While engaged at work with a machine on his farm he was struck on the head with a stick which he had in his hands, and which by some means caught in the machinery and struck him on the head. One of his eyes has become blind and the other badly injured. Mr. H[illegible] over is [illegible] will be [illegible]."

A little daughter of Mrs. Jos. McLaughlin, who resides [illegible] Forest [illegible] [illegible] the other day. A gun hanging on a rack in one of the rooms in [illegible] father's home [illegible] discharged the ball [illegible] the [illegible] knee, splintering the bone and mangling the flesh. Dr. Palmer was called and on examination he found it necessary to remove several pieces of bone [illegible] were [illegible] length.

The Roseburg Plaindealer says: "We were shown some very fine quartz rock this week taken from a gold bearing ledge lately discovered by Messrs. Burnett and Abbott some twenty miles from Roseburg. From the appearance of the rock we should judge it to be very rich. A test of it made in a blacksmith's forge showed several clusters of gold and it is considered such indications, when from average rock, insure at least $800 to the ton. Several claims have been recorded, and the ledge will be thoroughly tested."

From the Times we learn that the 30,000 bushels of wheat stored in Buena Vista warehouse have been bought by B. F. Burch, for the Milwaukie mills, at $1 05 per bushel, less warehouse charge of three and a half cents per bushel, so that it nets the producers $1 01½ cents. It will stay in warehouse until the river rises. We are informed that Mr. Burch has purchased different lots of wheat along the river in Polk county, amounting to one hundred thousand bushels, not all for the same party, however.

The following is a list of the officers installed at the last regular meeting of Harmon Lodge No 101 I. O. of G. T., at the Dalles, for the term commencing November 1st: Mr. Wm. Mitchell, W. C. T.; Miss E. J. Harman, W. V. T.; Mr. H. S. Comfort, W. S.; Mr. A. W. Coffin, W. F. S.; Miss C. Grimes, W. T.; Mr. C. H. Reed, W. M.; Miss M. B. Hand, W. I. G.; Mr. C. C. Grimes, W. O. G.; Miss D. Graham, W. R. H. S.; Miss C. Adams, W. L. H. S.; Mr. J. F. Hill, W. A. S.; Miss S. Worsley, W. D. M.; Mrs. M. J. Van Nostern, P. W. C. T.

A gentleman who resides near Scio informs the Mercury that the wife of Albert Bond, residing near that place, was terribly burned about a week ago, under the following circumstances: She was feeling somewhat ill and laid down before the fire and fell asleep. Soon a stick of wood rolled down which set fire to her clothes, completely burning them off of her and injuring her to such an extent that for a time her life was despaired of. Even her woolen underclothes were burned off. At last accounts she was in a fair way to recover.

A recent and very valuable acquisition which the Faculty has placed in the Medical Department of the Wallamet University, is a complete set of models for the purpose of demonstration in the study of anatomy. These models, of which there are a large number, are moulded in plaster paris, manufactured in Europe and have been but lately introduced into our colleges. They are designed to show all parts of the human anatomy, each organ with its separate functions, the intricate net work of minutest nerves and muscles--in short everything which is found in the anatomy of an actual subject is here shown and properly designated.

The Dalles Mountaineer says: "There was tried in our District Court this week the case of S. Wolf against P. Adams, for $5,000 damages, in which the people of this county have felt a great interest, and much to the satisfaction of almost everybody, a verdict was rendered in favor of Mr. Adams. For the accidental killing of his child Mr. Wolf brought suit, laying his damages at $5,000, setting forth that it was the result of carelessness on the part of Mr. Adams who was driving the omnibus that ran over the child. The verdict, as rendered by the jury, thus exonerates Mr. Adams from all blame. We are told that this is the first instance of the kind in the United States where a father has sued for damages for the accidental killing of his child."

There have been received at the State Library since the 10th of September last, 140 volumes of books, including pamphlets of which there are comparatively few. Since the 1st of January 1873 there have been received 643 volumes and 776 volumes since the present Librarian, Mr. McClain, has had charge of the Library. There are twenty-six newspapers donated to the Library, one being a daily. It is desired to secure all the daily papers published in the State, but as they are not donated and no appropriation has been made to meet expenses of this nature, the Library has been obliged to do without them. An attempt will be made at the next session of the Legislature to secure an appropriation for this and other similar purposes, such as binding the volumes already received, etc., and it is probable that those donating such papers now would receive pay for the same at that time.

The Baker City Herald of the 13th, says: "The eastern bound stage on last Sunday night was stopped about fourteen miles below this city by two desperadoes and robbed. The robbers compelled the driver to hand out the treasure box and without further molestation, ordered him to drive on,' which peremptory command he was not long in obeying. There were three passengers aboard, two of whom were inside asleep, the third being outside with the driver. The box was taken about fifty yards from the road, smashed to atoms with a stone and the contents extracted. Sheriff Shunn and his deputies, accompanied by R. H. Cardwell, early Monday morning repaired to the scene of the robbery. They traced the robbers some fifteen miles west on the road, at which point they lost all trace of them as a great many trains had passed over the road. We learn that there was not to exceed $150 in the treasure box.

Sheriff William Lewis, of Yakima county, W. T., was at the Dalles on Monday of last week en route for the Steilacoom penitentiary in charge of an Indian belonging to the Simcoe Reservation, who was sentenced to three years for killing one of his tribe.

The following is a statement of business in the Olympia Land Office, transacted during October: Cash entries 1,603 86 acres; homestead entries 480; homestead final proof 965 32; donation proofs 164; declaratory statements filed 100; Agricultural College location 160; one coal declaratory statement, 160; total number of acres 4,011 40.

From several gentlemen who visited the new gold mines lately discovered on Swauck creek in Washington Territory the Mountaineer learns that the mines are a veritable fact and that gold really is found there. The place in the creek where the gold was first found was at a point where the bedrock was exposed and the gold was lying loose on the rock and in the crevices. The discoverers, it appears, crevised and scratched the exposed bedrock for a distance of about six miles in the course of several days' work, and realized between $200 and $300.

MURDERED IN HIS CABIN

[SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

WALLA WALLA, Nov. 16.--On last Wednesday it was discovered that a most terrible murder had been committed, the victim being a man usually known as "Scotch Jimmy," but whose name is James Corigle. He lived on a little farm on Blue creek about [illegible] miles east of this city. The deceased was last seen alive on Tuesday, and he then said that two Indians had stayed at his house the night before, and he would not allow them to stay again; that he had objected to their staying, [illegible] had finally consented. On Wednesday Andrew Forney, a neighbor, was passing the house accompanied by his wife and little girl. He sent the girl to the house to get an ax. After a little while she returned, saying that she could not find one. Then Mr. Forney went to the house, and seeing the door partly opened went in. He noticed that there was some one in the bed, and called "Jimmy." On receiving no answer from the person in the bed he put his hand under the blankets and felt that the man's hand was cold. He also noticed that the handle of an ax was sticking out from under the blankets. This shocked Mr. F. and he at once left, supposing the occupant of the bed was dead. On going to the door, however, he saw two neighbors passing the place and called them. They all then went in and examined the dead body of James Corigle. On turning down the blankets which had [illegible] covering the man's face a most ghastly spectacle was presented. The body lay on the left side with the right hand over the breast, and was dressed only in shirt and drawers. A common chopping ax was sticking in the head and was buried almost out of sight. It had entered the right side of the head about the middle of the ear, and had penetrated inward and upwards, going so far that the edge had fractured the skull on the other side. The ax was left in the wound and required a heavy force to draw it at the time of the Coroner's inquest. A hatchet lay beside the bed and the deceased had a wound on his chin which was probably made by a blow from that instrument after the ax had become fastened in the head as before mentioned. These parties did not disturb anything, but sent for the coroner immediately. On the next morning Coroner Thibodo, and a number of gentlemen from this city went to hold an inquest. On examination it was found that the cabin had been robbed at the time of the murder, and that among other articles a silver watch and some blankets had been taken. In the evening before the murder was committed an Indian was seen going on foot towards Corigle's cabin. On the next day after, an Indian sold a silver watch to a [illegible] in this place for a dollar or two, and then, it seems, left and went no one knows where. When it was found that a watch had been taken from deceased the watch sold here was found and identified as the one which had belonged to the murdered man. The circumstantial evidence against the Indian is very strong. These are all the facts thus far developed.

EASTERN NEWS.

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

Details of the Virginius Butchery.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—A dispatch from Jamaica says that on the 10th all the remaining [illegible] prisoners were marched out and ten detailed to execution at a time. When ten were [illegible] another ten were marched up and their dead bodies [illegible] those of their companions.

HAVANA, Nov. 14.—The Diario de Cienfuegos says [illegible] of the Virginius captives were shot at Santiago on the 10th inst. No particulars of these additional executions have been made here.

HAVANA, via Key West, Nov. 1[illegible].—The following account of the event at Santiago de Cuba was received [illegible] morning the [illegible] instant. [illegible] of the crew of the Virginius were brought on shore and taken to prison to remain [illegible] their execution, which was ordered for [illegible] ... he saluted them all, and his salute was returned with affection. At 4:30 P. M. Captain Fry [illegible] men and officer were publicly shot [illegible] the protest of all competent foreign authorities. [illegible] minutes in killing [illegible] it seemed as if they would never finish. At last the sailors marched off and the troops filed past a long row of corpses. Then the dead carts were hurried up and loaded indiscriminately with the mangled remains. The American Consul has done all that could have been done. Indeed it was threatened that his exequatur would be withdrawn for his exertions on behalf of the prisoners. In an interview with General Burriel that officer yelled at him and otherwise treated him disrespectfully. The British Consul also made an ineffectual protest against the execution. It is reported that sixteen of the victims were British subjects.

Movements of War Vessels.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1[illegible].—Vice Admiral Rowan of the Brooklyn Navy Yard, says that the Minnesota could be got ready for sea in one or two months and that the Juniata will be ready in a day or two. The Powhattan was ready to sail. Work is continued on the Spanish [illegible] Arapiles which is in the dry dock at this place.

A Breeze in Brooklyn Congregational Churches.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—The Brooklyn Union says that at a business meeting in Plymouth Church in the last of October it will be remembered that Beecher made a remarkable speech on the occasion of Tilton's name being dropped from the church rolls, and that some of his statements were held to be so at variance with the opinions of orthodox people that no inconsiderable trouble resulted therefrom, and that it was resolved to examine into Mr. Beecher's authority for some of his assertions and learn wherein he gets the right to define Congregationalism as he did. Several of the Congregational Churches of Brooklyn have appointed a committee to wait upon Plymouth Church and have the subject discussed and the matter explained.

Meeting of the Cabinet.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1[illegible].—The session of the Cabinet to-day continued over two hours and was the most important which has taken place under President Grant's administration. The capture of the Virginius and barbarities perpetrated by the Spanish authorities at Santiago de Cuba formed the subject of serious consideration and definite action toward maintaining the dignity of the United States under existing circumstances, was taken up. All the members of the Cabinet are extremely reticent as to the conclusion reached. One member when approached on the subject replied: "As to the nature of the action agreed upon to-day I can say nothing, but you may rest assured that the people of this country will be satisfied." Various rumors are circulated to-night as to the determination of the Cabinet, one of which is that the Government will demand of Spain the immediate arrest and punishment of the parties mainly instrumental in committing the outrage and if Castelar's Government shall be unable to give required satisfaction this Government will proceed to extreme measures necessary to obtain it.

RACE TRACK, SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 1[illegible].—The loveliness of the weather this morning added to the interest in the race and called out thousands to the course, who, under less favorable circumstances would have studiously avoided this mild form of dissipation. Before the light of day had streaked the eastern horizon the tide of travel set toward the Park and the roads centering at this point were crowded with adventurous fellows of a speculative turn of mind, including gamblers, venders of various indigestible refreshments and a varied assortment of vagabonds, all bent on securing advantageous locations about the country outside the track. The economists who, through necessity or choice, patronized the pedestrian line, also made an early start and with jacket in hand trudged along, and were in appearance happy. The [illegible] manifested a preference for the old county road which afforded them an opportunity to lift to the Industrial school on the cars, while the teams came over the Mission and Ocean Beach roads, the Cliff House road or the fine drive through the Golden Gate Park. At 10 o'clock the roads presented a cheering scene. There were wagons, buggies, coupes, trays, hacks, barouches, dump carts—in fact every vehicle of locomotion adaptable to the purpose of the season occupied by people of every class and condition, pedestrians in groups and alone and as merry a crowd as ever passed out of the city. The stylish equipages, largely occupied by the fair but fast representatives of society rolled along with the customary regard for the rights of pedestrians and occasionally received salutations strikingly expressive, but in the main the behavior of the crowd was confined to genteel hilarity. The day was peculiarly Californian and a type of the delightful autumn season. A mellow haze enveloped the surrounding hills, while a gentle breeze came in over the glittering surf line of the sea which nearly laved the western extremity of the track. The atmosphere was of refreshing temperature. To the Eastern visitor the scene must have been happy and inspiring. By 11 o'clock the grand rush had fairly set in, and a dense column of horse, foot and carriage resembling the march of a great army, streamed steadily over the hill and down the avenue leading to the park. Every available means of conveyance appeared and was mustered into service, from the imposing four-horse drag to the rickety cart of the vegetable peddler. Thousands came by trains of the San Jose railroad and walked to the course. Within the Park the scene was fairly suggestive of the day on the Derby Downs. An hundred aristocratic establishments crowded together occupied by gay votaries of fashion who discussed the probabilities of the approaching race with animation and the contents of their hampers with equal earnestness. The day and scene were prerogative of hilarity. The sports as well as the indispensable card sharp and his confreres were present in force and had their tables and apparatus for genteel swindling arranged on every side where the crowd did most predominate, both within and without the Park. Hundreds dispelled the tedium of the hours before the commencement of the race by tampering with these wily fellows and got their fingers burned as usual. The hackmen are charging [illegible] a head from the city, customers finding their own conveyance back. A great speculator [illegible] offered the managers [illegible] for the receipts of the gate independent of receipts at the stands and extras. The offer was refused. The horses are in good trim. True Blue, Thad Stevens and the other horses named for the contest were aired and moderately exercised this morning, and appeared to be in excellent condition. The friends and supporters of True Blue casually remarked from time to time under appropriate circumstances that the horse was a little stiff about the knees and lacked the desired amount of luster in his eye—a statement that was invariably received with significant winks and nods by the keen adepts in the matters pertaining to the turf. The true state of affairs was enshrouded with a suspicious mystery that the race alone could explain to the uninitiated. The gossip of the stable failed to contain any point of interest other than the report that the owner of True Blue depended upon distancing Thad Stevens in the first heat, and failing in this he had serious doubts of winning the contest. The old sorrel continued in high favor. The grounds now present a dazzling scene of animation. The proportions of the crowd have swollen with nameless rapidity and at the present time there are at least six thousand people on the course. The main road leading to the course is hidden for a mile with a cloud of dust and a continuous procession of buggies pours steadily down the hill to the [illegible]. The pool selling was commenced at [illegible] A. M. and opened briskly at large figures in the two hours that intervened before the horses were called. A heavy sum was deposited in the [illegible] somewhere between $40,000 to $60,000. [illegible] Stevens is now the favorite by [illegible] increased odds. A report industriously circulated that True Blue had exhibited symptoms of stiffness this forenoon may have had some influence, but the confidence in the California favorite is very strong. The ratio in pools between Stevens and Blue is [illegible] shows the average of pools [illegible] before the calling of the horses: Stevens 260, Blue [illegible], Daniels [illegible], Field 10; Stevens [illegible], Blue [illegible], Daniels [illegible]; [illegible], Field [illegible]; Stevens [illegible], Blue [illegible], Daniels [illegible]; Field 8; Stevens 300, Blue [illegible], Daniels 50, Field [illegible]; Stevens 325, Blue 155, Daniels 75, Field 5.

A strong police detachment [illegible] under command of Captain Douglass [illegible] the good order of the vast assemblage. A portion of the men are mounted. In addition to the great crowd in the Park hundreds of [illegible] spectators have taken position on the neighboring hills where a view of the course can be obtained.

PACIFIC COAST NEWS.

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

CALIFORNIA.

From San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 15.—The weather for the race this afternoon is excellent. Hundreds of people have already left the city for the track. Thad Stevens remains the favorite in the pools and amongst betters on the outside. There is great excitement over the race and the city this afternoon will be almost deserted. Little else is talked about or thought of. All the horses to go are reported this morning to be in excellent condition.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 15.—Chas. Dodge, a clerk in the employ of Bancroft & Co., and Jas. Faraday, a clerk with Wallace Everson, went to the California Theater last night staying over the last act. On their return Dodge complained of sickness. He was taken home and doctors were called who said they supposed he had been poisoned. Faraday told them that the two had taken beer together. He remained with Dodge till this morning, and then went home laboring under great depression. When he reached home he wrote three letters and was asked by his brother what was the matter. He told him that he wanted to be called at five. He then blew out the light, went to bed and pulled the clothes over his head, then fired a pistol. His brother Richard called the landlady and found that he had shot himself through the head with a derringer and died in an hour. Word was received at this time that Dodge was also dead. Faraday was aged 20 and gave the reason in a letter that he could not live with the stain on his character that the death of Dodge would leave. Dodge was 1[illegible] years old. The post mortem examination showed that death resulted from the rupture of a blood vessel in the brain.

Thad. Stevens took the last heat and won the race. There was the wildest excitement. The crowd was a perfect pandemonium. Coming home a large number of vehicles were wrecked on the way, but so far as known no lives were lost or limbs broken. The time given for the last heat of the race was erroneous. True time 8:20.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 16.—The lameness of True Blue is more apparent to-day than when he was led off the track last night. His owner says he can never run again. In the rush and crowd on the central road last night coming from the great race about twenty coaches, buggies and express wagons were wrecked. Several ladies and gentlemen were hurt badly. It is surprising no one was killed, for it was dark and the grade in many places is very steep and narrow and most of the drivers were excited and careless.

The trial of Harris, mate of the [illegible], will be resumed to-morrow. There was no session of the court yesterday.

The water is becoming very scarce in most of the placer mines in Baker county and some who have been mining pretty extensively, are gradually narrowing down, and it will not be long before they will suspend operations altogether until next season.

The Santiam Academy is in a most flourishing condition. There were in the school during the year as many as 150 pupils, and the prospects for the winter term which will open on the first of December, are very flattering.

F. Nodine, of Union, some two or three weeks since, accidentally run a sliver up through the instep of one of his feet, and within the last few days his leg presents a very disagreeable appearance and it is feared will have to be amputated.

Last week while boring a well on Mr. Miller's place, on Soap Creek at the depth of forty feet the borers struck a strata of muck and drift wood, and fifty feet from the surface they struck a log three feet in thickness, through which the augur passed.

The Baker City Herald says: "Freight train wagons drawn by from six to a dozen span of mules, arrive now a days almost every day—Sundays included. They are loaded with goods and groceries for the merchants of this and other points of this region."

In consequence of the utter impossibility of attending to the necessary business at one meeting a month Lebanon Grange have found it necessary to change their By Laws so that they can hold semi-monthly meetings. The membership of this Grange is increasing at an unprecedented ratio.

The Independent says: "At a school meeting which came off last Monday evening at Forest Grove the proposition of keeping up a free school for a year was voted down because of the new series of school books which the State Board of Education has adopted for the use of the public schools in this State."

Mr. T. J. Dunton brought to Eugene on Saturday the 8th inst., some specimens of gold bearing quartz which are said to be very rich. Mr. D. found the ledge from which the quartz was obtained while out hunting on Camp creek in Lane county, and is quite confident that he has "struck a good thing."

A Mrs. Bland of Douglas county sat at the foot of a tree in the dark woods and watched a bear while her husband went six miles for ammunition to shoot it with. We should say the woman was brave, but if the husband had become a widower what would he have thought of his own courage in setting his wife to watch a bear?

The Albany Register of last Saturday says: "On Thursday Mr. Wm. Poe, of Halsey precinct, was arrested on a warrant issued by J. S. Grimes, J. P., charged with the crime of incest. Poe was brought before L. N. Tandy, County Judge, yesterday, when he waived an examination and was committed to answer, and in default of bail ($?00) was incarcerated in the county jail."

Work has been commenced on the Badger Silver Lode, the assays of the ore made so far leading the owners of the mine to believe it is a very valuable piece of property. A shaft is now to be sunk down on the ledge one hundred and fifty feet and this will enable those interested to form a correct idea of its value. The ledge is located ten miles from Roseburg and is very promising of rich results so far as prospected.

The Independent says: "Jacob Hoover of Washington county met with a serious and painful accident lately. While engaged at work with a machine on his farm he was struck on the head with a stick which he had in his hands and which by some means caught in the machinery and struck him on the head. One of his eyes has become blind and the other badly injured. Mr. Hoover is afraid he will lose it also."

A little daughter of Mrs. Jos. McLaughlin who resides a short distance from Roseburg, met with a serious accident the other day. A gun hanging on a rack in one of the rooms in her father's house fell to the floor and was discharged, the ball taking her just below the point of the knee, splintering the bone and mangling the flesh. Dr. Palmer was called and on examination he found it necessary to remove several pieces of bone, some of which were an inch in length.

The Roseburg Plaindealer says: "We were shown some very fine quartz rock this week taken from a gold bearing ledge lately discovered by Messrs. Barnett and Abbott some twenty miles from Roseburg. From the appearance of the rock we should judge it to be very rich. A test of it made in a blacksmith's forge showed several blisters of gold and it is considered such indications, when from average rock, insure at least $800 to the ton. Several claims have been recorded and the ledge will be thoroughly tested."

From the Farmer we learn that the 40,000 bushels of wheat stored in Buena Vista warehouse have been bought by B. F. Burch, for the Milwaukie mills, at $1 0? per bushel, less warehouse charge of three and a half cents per bushel, so that it nets the producers $1 01½ cents. It will stay in warehouse until the river rises. We are informed that Mr. Burch has purchased different lots of wheat along the river in Polk county amounting to one hundred thousand bushels, not all for the same party however.

The following is a list of the officers installed at the last regular meeting of Harmon Lodge No. 161, I. O. of G. T., at the Dalles, for the term commencing November 1st: Mr. Wm. Mitchell, W. C. T.; Miss E. J. Harman, W. V. T.; Mr. H. S. Comfort, W. S.; Mr. A. W. Coffin, W. F. S.; Miss C. Grimes, W. T.; Mr. C. H. Reed, W. M.; Miss M. B. Hand, W. I. G.; Mr. C. C. Grimes, W. O. G.; Miss D. Graham, W. R. H. S.; Miss [illegible] Adams, W. L. H. S.; Mr. J. F. Hill, W. A. [illegible]; Miss S. Worder, W. D. M.; Mrs. M. J. V[illegible]stern, P. W. C. T.

A gentleman who resides near Scio informs the Mercury that the wife of Albert Bond residing near that place was terribly burned about a week ago, under the following circumstances: She was feeling somewhat ill and laid down before the fire and fell asleep. Soon a stick of wood rolled down which set fire to her clothes, completely burning them off of her and injuring her to such an extent that for a time her life was despaired of. Even her woolen underclothes were burned off. At last accounts she was in a fair way to recover.

A recent and very valuable acquisition which the Faculty has placed in the Medical Department of the Wallamet University, is a complete set of models for the purpose of demonstration in the study of anatomy. These models of which there are a large number, are moulded in plaster paris manufactured in Europe and have been but lately introduced into our colleges. They are designed to show all parts of the human anatomy, each organ with its separate functions, the intricate network of minutest nerves and muscles—in short everything which is found in the anatomy of an actual subject is here shown and properly designated.

The Dalles Mountaineer says: "There was tried in our District Court this week the case of S. Wolf against P. Adams, for $5,000 damages in which the people of this county have felt a great interest, and much to the satisfaction of almost everybody, a verdict was rendered in favor of Mr. Adams. For the accidental killing of his child Mr. Wolf brought suit, laying his damages at $5,000, setting forth that it was the result of carelessness on the part of Mr. Adams, who was driving the omnibus that ran over the child. The verdict, as rendered by the jury, thus exonerates Mr. Adams from all blame. We are told that this is the first instance of the kind in the United States where a father has sued for damages for the accidental killing of his child."

There have been received at the State Library since the 10th of September last, 140 volumes of books, including pamphlets, of which there are comparatively few. Since the 1st of January, 1873 there have been received 648 volumes and 770 volumes since the [illegible] Librarian, Mr. McClain, has had charge of the Library. There are twenty-six newspapers donated to the Library, one being a daily. It is desired to secure all the daily papers published in the State but as they are not donated and no appropriation has been made to meet expenses of this nature, the Library has been obliged to do without them. An attempt will be made, at the next session of the Legislature, to secure an appropriation for this and other similar purposes, such as binding the volumes already received, etc., and it is probable that those donating such papers now would receive pay for the same at that time.

The Baker City Herald of the 13th, says: "The eastern bound stage on last Sunday night was stopped about fourteen miles below this city by two desperadoes and robbed. The robbers compelled the driver to hand out the treasure box, and without further molestation, ordered him to drive on, which peremptory command he was not long in obeying. There were three passengers aboard, two of whom were inside asleep, the third being outside with the driver. The box was taken about fifty yards from the road, smashed to atoms with a stone, and the contents extracted. Sheriff Shinn and his deputies, accompanied by R. H. Cardwell, early Monday morning repaired to the scene of the robbery. They traced the robbers some fifteen miles west on the road at which point they lost all trace of them, as a great many trains had passed over the road. We learn that there was not to exceed $150 in the treasure box."

Sheriff William Lewis, of Yakima county, W. T., was at the Dalles on Monday of last week en route for the Steilacoom penitentiary in charge of an Indian belonging to the Simcoe Reservation who was sentenced to three years for killing one of his tribe.

The following is a statement of business in the Olympia Land Office transacted during October: Cash entries 1,063 88 acres; homestead entries 680; homestead final proof 485-12; donation proofs 4?0; declaratory statements filed, none; Agricultural College location 160; one coal declaratory statement 160; total number of acres 4,011 40.

From several gentlemen who visited the new gold mines lately discovered on Smock creek in Washington Territory, the Mountaineer learns that the mines are a veritable fact and that gold really is found there. The place in the creek where the gold was first found was at a point where the bedrock was exposed and the gold was lying loose on the rock and in the crevices. The discoverers, it appears, creviced and scratched the exposed bedrock for a distance of about six miles in the course of several days' work, and realized between $200 and $300.

[SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

WALLA WALLA, Nov. 15.—On last Wednesday it was discovered that a most terrible murder had been committed the [illegible] being a man usually known as "Scotch Jimmy," but whose name is James Corigle. He lived on a little farm on Blue creek, about [illegible] miles east of this city. The deceased was last seen alive on Tuesday, and he then said that two Indians had stayed at his house the night before, and he would not allow them to stay again; that he had objected to their staying and had finally consented. On Wednesday A[illegible] Forney, a neighbor, was passing the house accompanied by his wife and little girl. He sent the girl to the house to get an ax. After a little while she returned, saying that she could not find one. Then Mr. Forney went to the house, and seeing the door partly opened went in. He noticed that there was some one in the bed, and called "Jimmy." On receiving no answer from the person in the bed he put his hand under the blankets and felt that the man's hand was cold. He also noticed that the handle of an ax was sticking up from under the blanket. This shocked Mr. F. and he at once left, supposing the occupant of the bed was dead. On going to the door however, he saw two neighbors passing the place and called them. They all then went in and examined the dead body of James Corigle. On turning down the blankets which had been covering the man's face a most ghastly spectacle was presented. The body lay on the left side with the right hand over the breast, and was dressed only in shirt and drawers. A common chopping ax was sticking in the head and was buried almost out of sight. It had entered the right side of the head about the middle of the ear, and had penetrated inward and upwards, going so far that the edge had fractured the skull on the other side. The ax was left in the wound and required a heavy force to draw it at the time of the Coroner's inquest. A hatchet lay beside the bed and the deceased had a wound on his chin which was probably made by a blow from that instrument after the ax had become fastened in the head as before mentioned. These parties did not disturb anything, but sent for the coroner immediately. On the next morning Coroner Thibodo and a number of gentlemen from this city went to hold an inquest. On examination it was found that the cabin had been robbed at the time of the murder, and that among other articles a silver watch and some blankets had been taken. In the evening before the murder was committed, an Indian was seen going on foot towards Corigle's cabin. On the next day after an Indian sold a silver watch to a man in this place for a dollar or two, and then, it seems, left and went no one knows where. When it was found that a watch had been taken from deceased the watch sold here was found and identified as the one which had belonged to the murdered man. The circumstantial evidence against the Indian is very strong. These are all the facts thus far developed.

MONDAY MORNING, NOV. 17, 1873.

THE VIRGINIUS MASSACRE.

On the 10th day of October, 1868, Carlos Manuel de Cespedes, a citizen of Cuba, entered the village of Yara at the head of two hundred and fifty untrained and poorly armed rustics and gave battle to a small force of Spanish soldiers. After a brief combat the Cubans were dispersed. This was at once the nucleus of the "liberating army" of Cuba and the beginning of the revolution against Spain. From every part of the Island the patriots rushed to join Cespedes' awkward squad. Homes were deserted, families gave up their dwellings, old men and young men enrolled under the banner of the liberating army, and in every part Cuba blazed with the [illegible] smooth red line of the Spaniard. This was under the reign of Isabella. Prompt measures for the suppression of the insurrection were taken. A large army of disciplined veterans was thrown into the field. It seemed as if the struggle would be short and decisive. But Cuba had found her opportunity. With sublime self-abnegation the rich poured their treasures into the lap of the infant Republic, and the poorer classes clustered around the rude government which Cespedes, after the defeat of Yara, had set up in the heart of the tropical forests. Estates were deserted and in many instances given over to the torch. "Cuba Libre" was the watchword, and it flew over the Island like the warning of the Cross of Flame. At first, the Cuban patriots contented themselves with raids upon unfortified towns. With experience came strength. Sympathizing friends in the United States furnished money and arms. With the flight of Isabella and the coronation of Amadeus came proposals of peace and amnesty to the leaders of the revolution. These were rejected, and Spain addressed herself with increased energy to the conquest of the Republic of Cuba—for to this dignity had the insurgents of Yara grown. And thus for five years the unequal struggle has been kept up. To-day the Cuban Republic is stronger than at any previous time.

During all this time public sentiment in the United States has not been idle. Cuban Leagues have been formed in many of the Eastern cities. These are depots of supplies for the army in Cuba. At various times, propositions for the recognition of Cuban independence have been submitted to Congress. The subject has been urged upon the President and the Cabinet, but without eliciting more than expressions of sympathy.

The Cuban question has always been a delicate one. Congress has always been disposed to evade a direct vote—in fact it has always evaded it. And the most persistent endeavors of Cuban agents have drawn from our national officers nothing stronger than the recent letter from Vice President Wilson, declining the presidency of a League.

The occasion of the capture of the Virginius, on the 31st ult., and the cold-blooded slaughter of her crew and passengers has again started the cry for recognition of Cuban independence. And along with it come ominous sounds of preparation for war against Spain. It is said that the United States has demanded of Spain satisfaction for "the outrage," and in terms to which that Government cannot accede. What "outrage" is this which calls for such quick vengeance as is talked of by some? Let us think for a moment before we pitch headlong into war with a foreign power. The Virginius tragedy may be "a blot upon civilization," "a stain upon the escutcheon" of Spain, in cruelty it may be all that the fiery-lipped Herald may claim for it. But if our Government proposes to undertake to wipe out every blot on civilization or avenge the murder of every adventurer who goes from his native land to fight for glory or for coin it may as well prepare for extreme unction. The unfortunate Americans who were massacred on the 31st of October were simply filibusters. They may have been sincere friends of the Cuban cause; their motives may have been good, but they were soldiers of fortune who went forth taking their lives in their hands. In this business of filibustering there must be some point at which the citizen forfeits his right to that protection which our flag extends over the peaceful inoffensive citizen even to the remotest parts of the earth. If these men had fallen in the ranks of the 'liberating army' before Spanish bullets, what thinking man would then call for vengeance? In what respect then, does the Virginius slaughter differ from death in battle with Spanish soldiery? Simply in the one feature of atrocity. It seems to us that it is the right and duty of our government to protest, in the name of civilization against the brutal cruel deed; but as for wiping the stain out in blood—this is even worse than allowing the so-called outrage to pass unnoticed. The Virginius was captured in Spanish waters and her crew and passengers met the fate they must have expected if taken, though the method was barbarous to the last degree.

The question which interests us just now is this: why are our [illegible] preparing for sea? We are told that Spain is willing to give all reasonable satisfaction. What more can we demand? Have not our people had enough of war? Do we languish for another [illegible]? With vows of peace on our lips [illegible] our exultant gratulations over Arbitration and International Tribunals of Peace, are we yet slipping [illegible] from our moorings? While we are talking of insults to our national dignity let us [illegible] that there is a republic in Spain struggling with [illegible] insurgent [illegible] from without [illegible] bitter [illegible] in days and strength [illegible] unpleasant [illegible] situations. Some talk of war [illegible] better show our ability to govern [illegible] fully what we now have. [illegible] Cuba until we can manage [illegible].

So far Castelar has executed his difficult duties with admirable success. His administration has been characterized by rare prudence and wisdom. He is known to be an ardent friend of republicanism and he has on more occasions than one shown his friendship for the United States. There is every reason to believe that he will display in this emergency, that wisdom which has distinguished his presidency. Meanwhile in our own land there is a wonderful sensitiveness evoked. We wish our press and public men would show a tithe of that sensitiveness in rebuking the corruption and villainy which threatens the destruction of this republic.

The New York Times says that General N. P. Banks, candidate for Senator in the Second Middlesex Senatorial District is elected by an overwhelming majority over Copeland, the regular Republican nominee. He carried every town in the district. In his own town, Waltham, he received a majority of 760 and in Malden, Copeland's own town, he beat his competitor by two votes. Banks will be hugely tickled over this victory. He will, perhaps, view it in the light of an "endorsement," as Copeland is the man who two years ago fought him so bitterly, charging him with intoxication at Portland. Another notable incident is the election to the House of John Quincy Adams Jr., who was the candidate of the Democratic-Liberal party for Governor a year or two ago. The fight on the Legislative ticket was made chiefly on prohibition, and was, in other particulars, controlled by issues purely local.

As our dispatches have already informed us, the Canadian Credit Mobilier scandal has resulted in the resignation of Sir John Macdonald and his ministry. This terminates—for the present, at least—the twenty years of power of the Conservative party. The Premier found his government growing weaker every day. There was a large majority against him. A correspondent of the Chicago Times, who is evidently disposed to favor the retiring Premier, says that "now the contest is over every one admits that no corrupt bargain existed, but the majority in Parliament deemed it inexpedient that a precedent should be established for a Cabinet officer to accept favors from a public contractor, or be implicated in any way with the bribery of electors." This is only a very mild way of kicking Sir John down the back stairs. It will now be a matter of interest to know just how much McMullen got for turning on the government.

The official report of the steamboat inspectors who were appointed to examine into the loss of the Ironsides on Lake Michigan has just been sent to Washington. The inspectors find that the vessel was safe and seaworthy and that the Captain made his only mistake when he put the vessel against a heavy sea, when by keeping her before the wind he could have run to Manitowoc Island, and there made a good harbor. He atoned for his blunder by the loss of his own life, and the commission commend his intrepidity in the hour of greatest danger.

The commission appointed by the New York Legislature to investigate the charges against Hon. Ezra Cornell met in Albany November 6th. Governor Seymour, John D. Van Buren and Hon. Wm. A. Wheeler are the members thereof. Mr. Cornell is supported in his defense by many of the leading journals and most prominent citizens of New York. It is understood that the inquiry is instituted chiefly to vindicate the accused. It was at his own request that the commission was appointed.

Union College (New York) has just received an endowment of one hundred thousand dollars, the gift of General Leman. The New York exchange from which we quote says that the General "desires his name withheld for the present." Modest Leman! Perhaps being afraid that the grateful donees would want to take his name, he has concluded to withhold it until he can exchange it. In this case it wouldn't be a bad idea. Leman ought to come out West.

The Legislature of Mississippi met in special session a day or two before the election and after much wrangling concluded to allow Ames and Alcorn to see what the people thought of them. In other words they legislated Governor Powers' proclamation out of existence.

The report that Seth Green was drowned in St. Lawrence river several weeks since has proved untrue. That energetic pisciculturist still lives, unaffected by the panic and the November elections.

CITY.

IN-COMING.—The steamer Dar [illegible] sailed for this port last Saturday morning. She brings the following passengers: Capt Thomas McGregor U S N, Mrs P F Ittbogen, J I Miller, Miss F P Heaton, Ja Purcell, Mrs Upton, I Steel, H S Wheeler, P Richardson and family, A Pucksher, Miss J Wilson, A J Mac and wife, Miss I Edgerton, I F [illegible], H W Longfellow and wife, [illegible] Derr[illegible], Wm Welch and family, Mrs M F Walke, Mrs A J Rich and child, Mrs G W Watkins, Mrs S Cowen, J B Watkins, T W Johnson, G W Watkins, W Williams and wife, A A Rosenburger, F Stewart, H Lading, F H Whitworth, T W Koontz and wife, Mrs S Whitworth, W Koontz, James Stanley, Wm Gandlach, J W Glover and family, W F Trimble, W F Badley and family, S Burke, J S Hunt and wife, T Barnes, Mrs Monteith and two children, D B Baldwin, Mrs F I Hunt, Rev A C McDougall, G W Newman, H C Finch

MR. L. LELAND'S LECTURE.—It has never been our good fortune to listen to such an earnest, impassioned appeal for temperance as was delivered by Mr Leland at his lecture in Good Templar Hall last evening. His pathetic description of the miseries entailed in in [illegible] that cases made a powerful impression on his audience, many of whom were almost moved to tears at the close of his lecture. We sincerely trust that Mr Leland will soon afford our citizens another opportunity to listen to him, feeling satisfied that great and good results will follow from his lectures in our city

[illegible] FALL.—Some time ago we published an account of a man named Geo Dyer who fell from a pile driver at a point down the river. Dyer fell a distance of about twenty three feet, and struck on the wharf. He was knocked insensible and it was thought he had sustained very serious injuries and could not possibly survive. However to the surprise of all he has almost wholly recovered and is able to resume work

ETTIE MAY.—This little craft, which was here months ago to have machinery placed in the hull having been built for a steam propeller came up the river from Westport yesterday. At that port the Ettie May was rigged out as a schooner. She has the most handsome model of any sailing craft which has touched at this port for a long time. Her owners talk some of placing the schooner on the line betwee Portland and Coos Bay direct

TRIAL TRIP.—The steamer Alice which was partially destroyed by fire last spring in the Basin at Oregon City, is now finished and ready for service. Last Saturday the steamer was out and made the trial trip. She has been rebuilt in a different manner and presents a much more handsome appearance than before the upper portion of the works were destroyed. Everything was found to work smoothly and in a satisfactory manner

PLANS, ETC.—The Benton Democrat says W G Gilbert of the firm of Krumbein & Gilbert architects of Portland, was in this city last Tuesday examining the site of the projected Agricultural College with a view to getting up plans and specifications for the building. Several other architects have forwarded notice that they will send plans. The site selected is upon the knoll near the Agricultural Farm building

VESSELS ARRIVED.—The ship Cul ate arrived at this port on Saturday. She came hither in ballast to carry to England a cargo of wheat. There is no room at the docks and for the present she lies anchored out in the stream. The schooner Superior arrived yesterday in tow of the Merrimac and is lying alongside the ship Eskdale. She came from San Francisco with a full cargo

BEYOND DANGER.—Mr Moore the old gentleman who was rendered totally armless by an accident which occurred a few weeks since is rapidly recovering and is regarded as beyond danger. His arm was amputated twice but the old gentleman, although past 70 years, is in a fair way to recover and survive for some time to come

WEATHER REPORT.—From the records of the U S Signal Station of Observation Port and Oregon, Nov 16 1873,

Thermometer	51°	60°	5[illegible]

EAST OF THE MOUNTAINS.—A company of well known theatricals will leave the city this morning bound for Eastern Oregon on a professional tour. This company consists of Mr Robert Fulford and wife, Miss Walton, Messrs R Clinton White, Gain and Cox. The troupe will probably be absent a month or more.

ELOCUTIONARY ENTERTAINMENT.—We are informed that Prof J D. White who has been visiting the Sound and Victoria is now in the city. In compliance with a request he will give an elocutionary entertainment at the Good Templar Hall corner of Third and Alder streets to-morrow evening

COMING TO OREGON.—We learn by a private letter that Rev George F Guebne a German minister, who at present resides [illegible] Nebraska City, contemplates visiting Oregon early next spring. He comes with special reference to selecting a suitable location for the settlement of a colony

TAKES THE PLACE.—The Annie Stewart was taken to the bone yard yesterday to lay up for the time being, and the Dixie Thompson brought up to the wharf. The latter boat will ply on the Astoria Portland route until further notice

REPAIRING THE WHEEL.—From appearances the wheel of the Gov Grover has received pretty rough usage. Yesterday several carpenters were employed in repairing the damage

FOUND GUILTY.

IN [illegible] TESTIMONY IN THE [illegible] CLOSING ARGUMENT OF COUNSEL [illegible] CHARGE TO THE JURY—VERDICT OF GUILTY

THIRD DAY'S [illegible]

On the convening of the Court last Saturday morning Mr E M Wadsworth was recalled by counsel for defendant and stated that when he saw Mary Hardman at the [illegible] Hotel on the [illegible] of October [illegible] appeared ill and looked pale and haggard

MRS SEVERNAY

The mother in law of defendant was called on part of the defendant as a witness, and testified substantially as follows, her testimony being given through Mr Hibert as interpreter: I have just returned from San Francisco where I have been three or four weeks; am acquainted with Dr Glass; he is my son-in-law; was at his house three or four times a day in October last; saw Mary Hardman there. The first time I saw her there was the same morning that she came about a fortnight before I left for San Francisco. I left on a Saturday, but cannot give the date. When deceased first came to Dr Glass' she generally laid on the lounge; very sick, coughing and vomiting. I talked with her; she was very sick; her throat was very much inflamed. I saw her the first morning she was there. Defendant and his wife, myself and a Chinaman were there at the time. She occupied a room next to the bath room. [A diagram of the building was shown to the witness and she pointed out the several rooms and mentioned the purposes for which they were occupied.] Mrs Glass took care of the sick lady. Miss Hardman was out of that room only when she was taken out and placed on the sofa for the purpose of having the bed made. I saw her up only once and then Mrs Glass, myself and the Doctor helped her. Mrs G and the Doctor nursed her. Sometimes I would stay till 10 or 11 o'clock at night. She spoke to me about her child, and said she wished she had a mother like me to take care of it. She told me she was very sick when she came there, that she came from up above; that she had taken some very bad medicine, and that it made her very sick so that she thought sometimes she would die. Every time she would cough she would vomit, which was very frequently. She would only taste food—seemed to have no appetite at all; her breath smelled very bad and she had fever every morning and evening and had chills very often, caused probably by her sickness. I told her she was very sick. I know she was; I could tell what was the matter by looking at her. I don't remember the time I went to San Francisco; it was Saturday—about three weeks ago last Saturday. I last saw Mary Hardman on her bed in Dr Glass' room. She was wishing to change beds, and the Doctor, his wife and myself, helped her on to the bed. Mrs G waited on her all the time she was there. I was there two, three, four or five times a day. I lived about one block away

On cross examination the witness stated: Deceased had not been delivered when I left for San Francisco; don't remember how long deceased had been in Glass office when I left for San Francisco. I was in San Francisco two Sundays, don't know that I was there ten days. I got there on a Tuesday evening, at 10 o'clock

Miss Severnay a sister-in-law of defendant, was called and testified that she went to San Francisco with her mother; that they left here about the 18th of month before last; was three days going down, remained there about three weeks, was about three days coming back and arrived in Portland about four days ago

Mrs Severnay was then re-called and testified: My husband and daughter went to San Francisco with me; before I went I was making umbrellas and kept an umbrella store; sometimes I attended the store, sometimes my husband or the children. I don't know how many blocks my place was from Glass office. The first time I saw Mary Hardman at Glass office, was the day after her arrival. I was there two or three times; it was seven or eight o'clock the next morning when I next saw her; she was on the sofa coughing and vomiting; at night I staid at my house on Morrison street; my daughter told me the sick lady called her and did not want to see any one else but her; that she and the doctor were the only persons attending her

MISS SEVERNAY

Was recalled and said: I saw Mary Hardman when she came to Dr Glass office. A gentleman came with her. They went into the office first when the Doctor was out. I just went into the office and saw them. The next morning I saw the young lady; she was pale; she was reclining on the sofa the first day in the office. Saw her afterwards in the bed room. She remained at Glass office till I went to San Francisco with my mother. She was sick and was spitting and vomiting. She was in the bed room next to the bath room. My sister, Mrs Glass, waited on her, and sometimes I did. She did not tell me about her sickness; said she was suffering very much; sometimes she would have fever and chills. I only saw her up on the first day she was there

On cross examination witness testified: It was the third day after she came there that I saw her have the first chill. The next morning after she came she could hardly speak. She told me she had fever in the evening. She once told me to get a wet cloth and put on her forehead. There was medicine on the table, but I don't know what it was. I first saw her on the sofa the day she came. I did not see her as she came up the stairs

DR ROSEN[illegible]

Was called and testified that he had been a practicing physician since 1846 and gave it as his medical opinion that sufficient inflammation of the womb could exist to produce death and still no traces of such inflammation be seen on a post mortem examination, that oil of tansy produced congestion of the abdominal parts, the amount which might be taken without fatal results depended on circumstances.

DR BALLARD,

Of East Portland, was duly sworn and testified that he was acquainted with defendant and had assisted him in performing two or three surgical operations and that they were performed skillfully and well. As to the effects of oil of tansy, witness pronounced it a narcotic and irritant poison of which sufficient quantities could be taken to produce death without leaving any indications visible on a post mortem examination

At the conclusion of this testimony the defense rested their case

REBUTTING TESTIMONY

The prosecution then recalled Drs. Bouth[illegible], Harris, Kinney, Chase, Wilson and [illegible] Kington who all testified as to the medical qualities of the oil of tansy. These medical gentlemen testified that the oil of tansy was a poison when administered in large doses; that it could be taken in small quantities without injury and in some instances with positive benefit, it sometimes being used as a tonic. They stated that the oil of tansy had a sort of vulgar reputation for producing abortions, but that drug would not produce the effect attributed to it. It invariably affected the mother directly, but would not destroy the fetus except in case where large doses were administered, and then the fetus would only be destroyed by the death of the mother. In no case did the drug directly affect or destroy the fetus

Both the prosecution and defense having rested their case, the Court adjourned until a quarter past one o'clock

ARGUMENT BY COUNSEL

On convening at the time appointed the Court stated that the argument of opposing counsel would be heard

Deputy District Attorney H Y Thompson, who had throughout this [illegible] conducted the examination with much care, good judgment [illegible] and with marked ability, opened the case on behalf of the State. After reading to the Court the sections of the statute under which the indictment was found [illegible]

[illegible]

Mr J Williams the [illegible] the prisoner. We think Mr Williams [illegible] expended [illegible] the evidence which [illegible]

his testimony as to that [illegible] Mr Williams and his [illegible] state Mr Mason and his forensic effort was [illegible]

Two hours being allowed by the Court to each side, the remaining [illegible] minutes of the time allotted to the defense was occupied by Mr O P Mason

Mr W H Effinger, who had been employed to assist in the prosecution, then closed the case in a handsome speech of 52 minutes. Of this gentleman's ability it is unnecessary to speak. His past efforts before the Court are too well known. In the brief time allotted Mr Effinger summed up the evidence in the case and made a very eloquent and effective appeal to the jury. He was unable for want of time to make any extended argument in behalf of the State, but his effort was pointed and full of that dramatic fire which brought the case home to the heart of the honest jury to whom it was addressed

CHARGE TO THE JURY

At the conclusion of the argument the Court read the following charge to the jury:

On the instructions asked by the defendant's counsel the following the Court declined to give:

The hypothesis contended for by the prosecution must be established to an absolute moral certainty to the exclusion of any rational probability of any other hypothesis being true, or the jury must find the defendant not guilty

In order to convict the defendant upon the evidence of circumstances, it is necessary not only that all the circumstances concur to show that he committed the crime charged, but that they are all inconsistent with any other rational conclusion

"If the jury believe from the evidence that Mary Hardman had formed and expressed a design to relieve herself of her pregnancy even at the risk of her life, and that before or after coming to stop with the defendant, she may have endeavored to carry such design into effect without defendant's knowledge or acquiescence they must find defendant not guilty

The declaration of standard medical books as to the effect which will or may be produced by a given medicine or drug is entitled to more weight and is of more worth than opinions of medical men who admit in their evidence that they have never used such medicine in the course of their practice, and have little or no practical experience or observation as to the effects of such medicines

If the jury find that the womb of deceased was wounded in her life time and believe that such wounds may have been inflicted in good faith in the effort to assist the delivery of a child dead in the womb, or in the effort to remove an adhering afterbirth after the birth of a still born child then the jury must acquit

"If the jury believe from the evidence, beyond a reasonable doubt that the wounds were inflicted upon and within the womb of the deceased in her lifetime, then if they believe that such wounds may have been inflicted by deceased herself with intent to destroy her child they must acquit the defendant

"If you find that the deceased Mary Hardman died before the adjournment of the Grand Jury that found this indictment was discharged, then the Grand Jury when recalled had no jurisdiction to find this indictment. You must find for the defendant"

The State must show beyond a reasonable doubt that none of these hypotheses may be true to convict

The Court instructs the jury as follows:

Gentlemen of the Jury: The introduction of the evidence in this case has necessarily occupied a longer time than is ordinarily required and the careful attention you have given to the testimony and to the views of Counsel shows that you are impressed as you should be with the importance of the case and the grave responsibilities that devolve upon you as the persons selected to judge impartially between the parties, and to decide between the State and the defendant according to the law and the evidence

You have been selected as being men who were free from bias, standing indifferent between the parties and in a proper condition of mind to hear and determine the case upon its merits uninfluenced by any personal considerations or extrinsic circumstances, and I doubt not you are well aware how important and indispensable it is to the welfare of community and of the individuals that compose the community including the individual on trial that every case should be decided on its own intrinsic merits and according to the truth

Counsel have submitted to the Court several distinct and concise propositions and those of them which I deem to be proper and necessary to aid you in this investigation I will now read to you. They are as follows:

In order to convict the defendant the prosecution must prove 1st That Mary E Hardman referred to in the indictment was at some time prior to the finding of the indictment and within the period of the statute of limitations pregnant with child

2d That the defendant administered to said Mary E Hardman while so pregnant some medicine, drugs or substance or used or employed some instrument or other means or both, with intent thereby to destroy such child and that the administering of such medicine, drug or substance, or the use or employment of such instrument or means was not necessary to preserve the life of the said Mary E Hardman or intended for that purpose, and that the death of the said Mary E Hardman was produced by the said effort to destroy the said child

It is not sufficient that the circumstances proved coincide with account for and therefore render probable the hypothesis sought to be established by the prosecution but they must exclude to a moral certainty every other hypothesis but the single one of guilt or the jury must find the defendant not guilty

When a criminal charge is to be proved by circumstantial evidence the proof ought to be not only consistent with the prisoner's guilt but inconsistent with every other rational conclusion

Circumstantial evidence to be sufficient for a conviction in this case ought to be of a conclusive tendency; that is its tendency ought to be not only to convince the minds of the jury of the guilt of the defendant but to exclude the supposition that the deceased destroyed her own life either directly or indirectly, as the result of an abortion produced by herself

If the jury believe from the evidence that the deceased Mary E Hardman had obtained and had in her possession at the time she first went to defendant's hospital a poisonous medicine capable of inducing abortion directly or indirectly by acting as a poison to the mother and think it probable that she may have taken such medicine with or without defendant's knowledge and that an abortion and her own death may have been caused thereby, then the jury must acquit defendant

It is proper to say in connection with the proposition last read that while the [illegible] [illegible]

Hardman to do so with that intent, when it was not necessary to save life and thereby caused the mother's death, the mere fact that the deceased might have done the act or used the means herself or even that she did use the means with her own hands, would not exonerate the defendant. He would be equally liable if he advised aided or assisted the deceased in committing the crime and if such was the case he is to be deemed a principal and the verdict should be the same as if he had done the same acts with his own hand

This being a criminal case, the defendant comes before the Court with a presumption in his favor that he is innocent. The burden of proof being on the State to show that he is guilty, this presumption that he is innocent can not be overcome except by proof of the defendant's guilt and the defendant in this case must be acquitted unless the evidence satisfies you beyond a reasonable doubt that he is guilty of the crime charged in the indictment

It devolves on the State to show that Mary E Hardman was pregnant; that when she was in that condition this defendant administered to her drugs, medicines or other substance, or used or employed some instrument or other means with intent thereby to destroy the child of which she was pregnant; that the destruction of the child was not necessary to preserve the life of the mother and that the death of the mother Mary E Hardman was produced by the means so employed. It is not necessary that there should have been an intention to produce the death of the mother, but so far as intention is an ingredient in this offense it is sufficient if the acts were done with intent to destroy the child, when it was not necessary to preserve the life of the mother. To establish the offense it must be shown that the defendant either administered something to the mother or employed some other means with intent thereby to destroy the child, but if any means were employed by the defendant with intent thereby to destroy the child it is not material whether the act was done by administering drugs or by the use of instruments or by other means. Any means that are employed with intent to destroy the child when such destruction is not necessary to preserve the life of the mother, which when so employed, cause the death of the mother are the means prohibited by law

And if the means that cause death are used by the mother herself, and it be conclusively shown that the defendant aided abetted or advised such use with intent to destroy the child his liability is the same as if he personally employed the means

In all criminal cases there must be a union of act and intention, and an important ingredient of the crime here charged is a criminal motive. In this case, if you shall find the other facts charged in the indictment to be fully proved, it will be necessary for you to determine whether the acts thus charged were done with intent to destroy the child

This question of intention is a question of fact to be determined by you upon full consideration of all the evidence bearing upon that point. Much of the evidence has been directed toward this point, and as human motives can be determined only by considering human action and the circumstances that surround and accompany acts, tending to show the motives and intention, you are called upon to consider carefully and investigate thoroughly all the circumstances touching this question which have been presented in evidence for your consideration. If the defendant took the deceased under his charge and continued to treat her with the intention not to destroy the child, and never intended to destroy it he is innocent of the crime charged

If he took her under his charge with an intention to produce an abortion or if afterwards at her solicitation or otherwise, he determined to destroy the child by bringing on premature labor in either case if he used any means with intent to destroy the child when it was not necessary to preserve the life of the mother the criminal intent existed

If the defendant used means which resulted in the death of the mother, and used them with intent to destroy the child when such destruction was not necessary the criminal motive existed which is an essential ingredient of the crime

On the questions whether this was a premature birth, and what caused the delivery to take place at the time and in the manner in which it did take place and on some other points you have the aid of the opinions of medical experts

It is often of great value in the investigation of questions, such as have been presented to you in this case, to have the opinion of men skilled in medical science

Some questions lie beyond the scope and observations of men in general but are quite within the experience of and observation of those whose peculiar pursuits and professions have brought that class of facts frequently and habitually under their consideration. And such opinions when they come from men of great experience, and in whose correctness and sobriety of judgment just confidence can be had are of great weight, and deserve the respectful consideration of a jury. But the opinion of a medical man of small experience or of one who has crude and visionary notions, or who has some favorite theory to support, is entitled to very little consideration. The value of such testimony will depend mainly upon the experience fidelity and impartiality of the witness who gave it

The opinions of experts on questions of skill and science are admitted for the purpose of information to the Court and Jury. They are to be considered by you in connection with the other evidence in the case; they are to be examined by the light of your own knowledge and experience, and so far as they are in your opinion well founded they are to be taken to aid and guide your judgment and assist you in arriving at correct conclusions. As it devolves on the jury to decide every question of fact in the case, the opinions of experts are presented in evidence not to control your action against your judgment but to enlighten the judgment, so as to enable you to judge correctly and to decide according to the truth

If the evidence brings to your mind the conviction beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant criminally used means with intent to destroy the child when it was not necessary to the safety of the mother and thereby caused the mother's death and that he is guilty as charged you should render your verdict against him without any regard to its effects upon the defendant and without yielding your own convictions to any sentiments of commiseration or sympathy, and on the other hand if the case is not made out against the defendant beyond a reasonable doubt you will act with equal independence of extraneous influences in pronouncing him not guilty

'Twas evening in May and the soft zephyr sighed
Through branches low bending above
My Mary and I as we wandered along
And I whispered of beauty and love
"We'll make us a nest like the birdlings," I said,
And I never shall part any more.
Oh yes, she replied, and can furnish it nice,

Fair creature there's many a wealthier man
Would gladly have you for a bride
But no one can love you more fondly than I—
My treasure, my beauty and pride!
Oh had I a mansion with carpets of gold
And silver, I'd cover the floor"
But smiling she said, You can purchase the best
At HURGREN & SHINDLER'S STORE

I'll spread you a couch upon which to recline
When evening shall call us to rest,
Of the fleeciest down—"but," she said with a sigh,
I like a hair mattress the best.
Then so it shall be, love, and tables inlaid
And seats from some far distant shore
Oh no, she exclaimed. They have elegant sets
At HURGREN & SHINDLER'S STORE.

But Mary, alas, I'm so sadly confess
My means are but slender as yet
To furnish a house in the style you demand
Would hopelessly plunge me in debt—
To ask you to share my poor lodgings and board
Is something that I should deplore
She said with a smile, You can buy very cheap
At HURGREN & SHINDLER'S STORE"

MR BEECHER'S CHURCH

TILTON DROPPED FROM THE ROLL OF MEMBERSHIP

From the New York Times, Nov 14

[illegible] Plymouth Church was [illegible] Friday evening [illegible] The religious exercises Mr Beecher announced that there would be a special meeting of the church. A large [illegible] of those present then left. The special meeting was then organized by the election of [illegible] Plymouth as chairman. The subject [illegible] by the meeting was Mr. Theodore Tilton's connection with the church. A report from the Examining Committee of twenty three, composed of the Pastor officers and leading members of the congregation, appointed as afterward explained by the Clerk about eight months ago, was read. The report [illegible]

BROOKLYN, Oct. 24, 1873

To Rev S B Halliday Clerk Plymouth Church

At a meeting of the Examining Committee of Plymouth Church, held last evening, the following preamble and resolutions were adopted

WHEREAS Charges were presented to this committee by Wm F West against Theodore Tilton and whereas a special committee having been appointed by this committee to wait upon the said Theodore Tilton in reference to said charges, said Tilton on the evening [illegible] of October made answer to that special committee in these words: "I have not for nearly four years been an attendant of Plymouth Church, nor have I considered myself a member of it, and I do not now nor does the Pastor consider me a member, and I do not hold myself amenable to its jurisdiction in any manner whatever"

And whereas, Theodore Tilton in reply to a communication addressed to him by the Clerk of this committee, and which communication with a copy of the charges, were put into the hands of the said Tilton on the 1th of October instant and a request made of him that he should answer the same by the 23d of October, says in a letter addressed to the Clerk of the committee, under date of October 22d, 1873 "It is about four years since I terminated all connection with the church and am not now a member thereof, therefore the document addressed to me in that capacity I cannot receive. And whereas, it thus appears that Theodore Tilton, a member of this church, has abandoned his connection with the church by prolonged absence from all its services and ordinances, therefore

Resolved, That this committee recommend to the church that the name of Theodore Tilton be dropped from the roll of membership as provided by Rule No 7 of the Manual

D. W. TALMAGE,
Clerk of Examining Com

Several [illegible] in the language and construction of the report were offered, and a long debate ensued, in which Mr Wm F West, who originally preferred the charges against Mr. Tilton, took part. Quite a stir was created for a few minutes by Mr Tilton, who arose and requested to be allowed to read a statement. The consent of the meeting was asked by the Chairman, and Mr Tilton was allowed to step upon the platform. The statement, as read by him in clear and distinct tones, is as follows

"If I have a right to speak here to-night, I desire to say a few plain words. Twenty years ago I joined this church, and many of the most precious moments of my life center around these walls. Four years ago I ceased my membership, nor have I ever [illegible] from that until to-night under this roof. In retiring from Plymouth Church I did not ask for the erasing of my name from the rolls, because the circumstances were such I could not publicly do so without [illegible] of others besides myself. During these years of [illegible] a story has filled the land, covering it like a mist, that I have slandered the minister of this church [illegible]

At this point Mr. Tilton was interrupted by one of the members of the meeting who argued that this subject had been left to the Examining Committee, and that Mr Tilton was out of order in referring to it. The Chairman decided that Mr Tilton should be allowed to continue the reading of his statement

"Last summer Mr Beecher published an explicit [illegible] Brooklyn [illegible] this public disclaimer by him on my behalf, a committee of this church by its action, has given rise to injurious statements in the public press that my claim of non-membership is made by me in order to avoid my responsibility to the church as a member. I have, therefore come here to-night not from any obligation of membership, for I am not a member and not governed by any of its rules, and not [illegible] summoned me, but of my own free will, prompted by my self [illegible] and as a matter vital to my life and honor, to say to Mr Beecher, in his presence, surrounded here by his friends, that if I have slandered him I am ready to answer for it to the man I have slandered. If, therefore, the minister of this church has anything whereof to [illegible] and I shall answer as God is my judge."

At the conclusion of Mr Tilton's statement a profound silence ensued, which was broken by the [illegible] voice of the Moderator, who called the question of an amendment before the House. Mr West tried to gain a hearing, and a [illegible] insisted that he be heard. This was followed by a short and perplexing rush of points of order, amendments to amendments, until the question was finally settled flatly by laying it on the table, in which there was a heavy affirmative vote. Mr. Haws created some amusement by his persistency in inquiring how the [illegible] could know in such a crowd whether the voices were those of legitimate voters. Mr McKey [illegible] "I should like to know whether Bro Haws thinks he has got into a ballot-box stuffing district?" This was followed by a great laugh at Mr Haws's expense and he retorted sharply, "I don't answer blackguard remarks for [illegible]" [illegible] cussion then ensued

During the discussion some of the members of the meeting were in favor of a free discussion of the charges which had been presented to the Examining Committee, and others argued that it was not the province of the church meeting to enter into a discussion of the private affairs of individuals. This whole matter had been settled [illegible] so far as the general public was concerned by the newspapers, and the public had given a verdict at the Academy of Music.

Mr Beecher then stepped on the platform and explained that portion of the rules of Plymouth Church relating to membership. He said that the Congregational Church was the most disorganized of all churches. Its church meetings were like town meetings and the church was not governed like the Episcopalians and the Presbyterians. One of the rules of the church was to make admission and dismission easy. Of Mr Tilton Mr Beecher remarked he had been absent for four years. His separation from the church was by his own act. The action was valid. The prolonged absence of Mr Tilton from the church services and ordinances were well known and it has never been protested against. His separation had thus been substantially sanctioned by the action of the members of the church. He desired to say that Mr Tilton had not evaded his responsibility. He had no charges, he said, to make against him. The matter referred to during the evening had been amicably settled. This whole action was against his advice. The opinion concerning such action which he had held from the beginning he held still.

The report of the committee was finally adopted by 221 votes to 13 nays

It was also resolved that a favorable report of Mr Tilton's character as a Christian should be made by the clerk

CHALK MARK PARTITIONS.—A lady traveling in the far West writes home as follows: "The hotels of these sections are built of logs and are generally fifteen feet in size. They have but one room which answers for hall, drawing room, dressing room and kitchen. It having been the first time I ever had the extreme felicity of registering my name on the book of one of these metropolitan accommodations, I was much surprised by the arrangements. I [illegible] a few men changing their clothes or more properly performing their toilet—and I addressed the landlord with

"Is this the only apartment this house has

"Yes ma am, isn't dat enough?

"But haven't you got any other for ladies?

"No."

"What a horrible arrangement. But how do the ladies do?

"They draw a chalk mark around the bed and while dey take off dere clothes [illegible] no gentleman is lowed to look ober de white mark

Home Produce Market.

WHEAT—The market is still quiet and large transactions are few, owing to a [illegible] standing between holders and exporters, the former contending for $2 per cental and the latter generally declining to advance on $1 95 though rumors reach us of prices being paid in the interior which would place the cereal at over $2 in this market, as [illegible] on which basis quotations are made. The receipts during a few days past have very materially increased and should the present rates continue and open the Upper Willamette to boats great quantities now in store are likely to come forward soon. The San Francisco market continues to harden

FLOUR—The shipments are increasing each outgoing steamer carrying considerable lots besides large quantities by sailing vessels being sent to San Francisco. The large ship Cutwater now about due will take near 1 200 tons for Liverpool direct. Our local market is quite firm at $6 [illegible] ₩ bbl for standard brands of extra $5 [illegible] for country and outside brands $4 [illegible] for extra superfine, and $4 [illegible]0 for superfine. The home trade is steady and manifestly increasing in volume

OATS—The demand for local consumption is quite firm and prices seem a little inclined to harden under the light receipts. The advance in Wheat tends to produce neglect of the Oat market and hence comparatively little attention seems to be paid the latter just now. All offering however, finds ready sale at 45 cents ₩ bushel, if of good quality. Shipments are light

BARLEY—There is no important new feature in the market prices being steady at $1 40@1 45 per cental. The demand for home consumption is not more than supplied by the receipts which are not heavy

HAY—With the approach of winter prices are beginning to show an advancing tendency and good bailed timothy has been sold at $1[illegible] per ton though quotable generally at $[illegible]a$1 less loose from wagons $11a$1[illegible]50

POTATOES—There is no lack in the supply, and prices very low. We quote the range of the market at [illegible] per bushel, the latter only for best varieties

ONIONS—Market dull and transactions limited to present wants of the trade though indications are [illegible] rable for holders. Quotable at 2[illegible] per lb

TO THE UNFORTUNATE.
NEW REMEDIES! NEW REMEDIES!

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,

623 KEARNEY STREET NEAR COMMERCIAL San Francisco. Established in 1854 for the treatment of Private and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhea, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Diseases (of years standing) Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

DR GIBBON has the pleasure of announcing that he has returned from visiting the principal [illegible] of Europe and has resumed practice at his Dispensary 623 Kearney street corner of Commercial, San Francisco, where his old patients and [illegible] requiring his services may find him

The Doctor has spared neither time nor [illegible] seeking out new remedies and has returned with increased facilities for the alleviation of suffering.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons both male and female are there who are suffering out a [illegible] existence from the effects of secret indulgence, or from virus absorbed into the system. Look at the pallid emaciated and disfigured faces and [illegible] broken-down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, [illegible] tend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible life-destroying maladies—see that they are cared for and cured before it be too late. Apply immediately to DR GIBBON a physician who has made private diseases his especial study for [illegible] and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who [illegible] all cities, publishing their skill in curing all [illegible] in a few days, imposing upon the public by [illegible] the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make inquiry or you may fall into the hands of charlatans

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions the consequence of self-abuse. This solitary vice or depraved sexual indulgence, is practiced by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing with unerring certainty the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz: sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence [illegible] approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, fetid breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained, apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific [illegible] of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr G will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

Marriage.

Or those who contemplate marriage, who are living under any of these fearful maladies, should not forget the sacred responsibility resting upon them nor delay to obtain immediate relief

DR. GIBBON [illegible] and will give to patient a written instrument binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

Cured at Home.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME by addressing a letter to Dr Gibbon stating symptoms, length of time the disease has continued and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions. By inclosing Ten Dollars coin in registered letter through the Post office or through Wells Fargo & Co a package of medicine will be forwarded to any part of the Union. All communications strictly confidential.

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and pretenders who with bogus sworn to certificates, dupe the unwary. Some of the self-styled doctors, whose names are to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco and other places are tradesmen and become too lazy to work at their trades. Some are tinsmiths, shoemakers, newspaper carriers, intelligence office keepers, etc. The only way to avoid imposition is to make inquiry—it will cost you nothing and may save you many regrets; for as advertising physicians in eight cases out of ten are bogus there is no safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are. Dr. Gibbon does not deceive people by exhibiting bogus titles, certificates, pretended patients' letters, etc. Dr. Gibbon will satisfy persons who may call at his office of his ability to treat diseases that he proposes to cure

Address DR. J F GIBBON 623 Kearney street corner Commercial, San Francisco. Postoffice Box 1,957. REMEMBER TO PUT BOX 1957 ON THE LETTER. Consultation FREE.

☞Correspondents will please inform DR. GIBBON that they read his advertisement in the DAILY OREGONIAN — jy6d&p
